Nina Flores was born and raised in Southern Arizona. Growing up, she developed a deep appreciation for the communities that make this region unique - historic neighborhoods, multigenerational families, and newcomers building their dreams in the desert.

After losing her childhood home during the 2008 recession, Nina, her three siblings, and her single mother moved from one rented apartment to another. They got by, but with rising rent prices, questionable neighbors, and always being at the mercy of a landlord unwilling to fix property issues, setting down roots was a challenge. So when Nina and her husband purchased their first home at 24 years old, she finally had a sense of stability and peace that changed the trajectory of her life. It is this sense of stability and peace that inspired her to get into real estate - to help others achieve it for themselves.

Today, Nina works with first-time buyers, relocating families, investors, and luxury property seekers. She also has a deep passion for helping renters break free from the cycle of renting - connecting them with down payment assistance programs, specialized lenders, and real strategies that make homeownership possible, even when it feels out of reach. Her approach is simple: understand each client's needs and find not just a house, but the right home.

When she's not showing homes, she likes to spend time with her family and two dogs, Frank and Beans. In addition to helping others in real estate, she runs an online thrift store called Coyote Flower (shopangelmade.com) and is a producer for El Tucsonan Podcast!

PIMA COUNTY BOUNDARY MAP

PREMIER TITLE AGENCY

Pima County, situated in southern Arizona, is home to the vibrant city of Tucson and offers a rich tapestry of cultural, historical, and natural attractions. The county features diverse landscapes, including the stunning Saguaro National Park, known for its iconic cactus forests, and the scenic Santa Catalina Mountains. With a strong emphasis on education and research, Pima County is home to several universities and institutions, including the University of Arizona. The region's unique blend of Native American heritage, Spanish influence, and modern amenities makes it a fascinating destination for residents and tourists alike.

Pinal County, located in central Arizona, is known for its diverse landscapes, including the Sonoran Desert and parts of the Superstition Mountains. It's a rapidly growing region that balances rural charm with suburban expansion, making it attractive for both residents and visitors. The county has a rich history, with ties to indigenous cultures and the Old West, and today it serves as a hub for agriculture, mining, and outdoor recreation. Its proximity to Phoenix and Tucson adds to its appeal as a place of both natural beauty and economic opportunity.

WORK & INDUSTRY

Tucson, Arizona, offers a dynamic work environment with a diverse range of industries. The city's economy is anchored by sectors like aerospace and defense, healthcare, education, and tourism. Home to major employers such as Raytheon, Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, and the University of Arizona, Tucson boasts opportunities for skilled professionals in engineering, research, and education. The growing tech scene is supported by innovation hubs and startups, while the healthcare sector thrives with numerous hospitals and medical centers. Tucson's vibrant job market, combined with a lower cost of living, makes it an attractive destination for relocation.

DISTRICTS OF TUCSON

DOWNTOWN

Located in the heart of Tucson, the Downtown district is the place to be for dining, music, art, and exciting events. The free-spirited vibe and authentic collection of things to do in downtown Tucson provides an opportunity to experience something truly unique.

CENTRAL TUCSON

Central Tucson is anchored by the city's largest park — Reid Park. It is home to a baseball stadium, amphitheater, duck pond, public pools, Reid Park Zoo, and so much more. Popular attractions include Tucson Botanical Gardens, Yume Japanese Garden, and the Mini Time Machine Museum. There is no shortage of things to do and see.

CATALINA FOOTHILLS

Right at the base of one of Tucson's most iconic features — the Santa Catalina Mountains. This district offers everything from legendary art galleries, exquisite dining, and tons of shopping, all while being incredibly connected and close to nature.

DOWNTOWN

Known for its peaceful and serene atmosphere of wide-open spaces full of cacti and desert trails, Westside is home to The Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum and Old Tucson. Find your way west and enjoy the amazing sunsets, unusual wildlife and discover the backdrop to some of the most iconic Western films ever made.

CENTRAL TUCSON

Truly one of the hidden gems of Tucson, the east side is home to the Rincon Mountains—a must-visit for anyone looking to take in the beauty and natural wonder of the landscape. It's chock-full of wildlife and natural discoveries including Saguaro National Park East and Colossal Cave Mountain Park.

CATALINA

Enjoy some of the best authentic Mexican food in Tucson or head south to the Santa Rita Mountains, a renowned birding mecca. Popular attractions include Pima Air & Space Museum, Titan Missile Museum, Mission San Xavier del Bac, Casino del Sol and Desert Diamond Casino. Whether it is indoor or outdoor activities, there is weeks' worth to do in Southside.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

AZLEG.GOV/ARS/33/01101.HTM

33-1101. Homestead exemptions; persons entitled to hold homesteads; equity

A. Any person eighteen years of age or over, married or single, who resides within this state may hold as a homestead exempt from execution and forced sale, not exceeding $250,000 in value, any one of the following:

- › The person's interest in real property in one compact body on which exists a dwelling house in which the person resides.
- › The person's interest in one condominium or cooperative in which the person resides.
- › A mobile home in which the person resides.
- › A mobile home in which the person resides plus the land on which that mobile home is located.

B. Only one homestead exemption may be held by a married couple or a single person under this section. The value as specified in this section refers to the equity of a single person or married couple. If a married couple lived together in a dwelling house, a condominium or cooperative, a mobile home or a mobile home plus land on which the mobile home is located and are then divorced, the total exemption allowed for that residence to either or both persons shall not exceed $250,000 in value.

C. The homestead exemption, not exceeding the value provided for in subsection A of this section, automatically attaches to the person's interest in identifiable cash proceeds from the voluntary or involuntary sale of the property. The homestead exemption in identifiable cash proceeds continues for eighteen months after the date of the sale of the property or until the person establishes a new homestead with the proceeds, whichever period is shorter. The homestead exemption does not attach to the person's interest in identifiable cash proceeds from refinancing the homestead property. Only one homestead exemption at a time may be held by a person under this section.

D. For purposes of determining the amount of equity in a homestead property that is sold or for determining whether the property owner is receiving cash back from refinancing the homestead property, the parties may rely on the valuation of the property in the final closing document disclosure that is used for that transaction.
